PROJECT OBJECTIVES

The Rotary Foundation approved global grant funding to be used for the following project objectives:

This project builds upon two previous Rotary global grants: 1426078 “Guatemalan Community Development through Workforce Readiness among Mayan Youth” and 1525485 “Creating Economic Opportunity and Community Development through Unlocking the “Girl Effect” in Rural, Mayan, Guatemala.” In those projects, the focus was on encouraging girls to remain in school beyond the normal sixth grade education through an intense program of mentoring and support. This project is different, in that it addresses goal achievement through changes in the educational system itself.

Asociación Estrella de Mar (EdM), the cooperating organization in the two previous grants, has again been selected as the implementing organization for this grant. EdM has been operating a very successful program since 2010 focused on girls’ education and empowerment. Over 200 graduates of the program are currently engaged in various activities including university studies, employment in the local economy, and building their own businesses. As successful as the program has been to date, EdM has recognized that the quality of the education system itself continues to be a barrier for many of these graduates to reach their full potential.

As a result, EdM has embarked on a new venture. In 2017, it opened its own school, Colegio Impacto (CI), or “Impact School.” Beginning in 2017 with only one class of 47 7th graders, it plans to add one grade each year until the full compliment of approximately 300 students, grades 7 through 12, is reached. A new building is under construction and is expected to open in late 2018. Unlike the public school system, a major focus of this new school is the development of skills relevant to the 21st century economy, namely STEM topics (science, technology, engineering, and mathematics), information technology, and critical thinking. The timing of this endeavor is ideally suited for this grant.

This grant will allow EdM to enhance and accelerate the development and implementation of the CI curriculum, including instructor training, which aligns closely with Rotary’s focus on basic education and literacy. It will seek to accomplish three of Rotary’s goals for this area of focus: involving the community to support programs that strengthen the capacity of communities to provide basic education and literacy to all; working to reduce gender disparity in education; and supporting studies for career minded professionals related to basic education and literacy.

The benefits of the grant will not be limited to basic education. It will also allow EdM to continue to serve young adults who are graduates of its original mentoring program, providing the resources and additional support necessary to transition to the 21st century economy. These activities will be closely aligned with another of Rotary’s focus areas, economic and community development. It will seek to accomplish three of Rotary’s goals for this focus area: building the capacity of entrepreneurs, community leaders, local organizations, and community networks to support economic development in impoverished communities; developing opportunities for productive work; and reducing poverty in underserved communities.

Proven methods will be proactively shared with public schools and other organizations through EdMs Chispa Network. Chispa, meaning "spark," was launched in 2015 to connect youth-focused organizations throughout Guatemala. The goal of the Network is to share best practices, enhance credibility, create social capital among the girls, and position girl’s education on the national agenda. There are currently ten member organizations in the Chispa Network.

The primary beneficiaries of this project will be the young women themselves as they will be prepared to assume increasingly responsible and valuable positions in the local economy. This includes current students at the CI school, which will be the "laboratory" for implementing many of the initiatives included in this project, and recent graduates of EdM's mentoring program who are now in universities, seeking employment, or starting their own businesses. The families of these young women will also benefit as the young women assume a greater responsibility for providing the income that many of these families' lack and instill in their families the appreciation for education. The communities will benefit as these young women enter into the job market and bring much needed skills to the business sector, as well as new services which are now totally lacking. Perhaps the largest impact will be on the greater community as the lessons learned are shared and applied to the educational system, allowing future students to reap the benefits derived from this project.

 Development/Implementation of Colegio Impacto Curriculum **

In consideration of Rotary's goals on basic education and literacy, the enhancement and acceleration of the development and implementation of the CI curriculum has shown tremendous progress and helped establish a sustainable working model for continued progress.

In 2019 alone, 9 Colegio Impacto educators received 1,276 hours of instructor training and professional development. Instructor trainings include weekly observations and in-person or on-line conversations to support continued studies and improvement of teaching methods. This includes weekly content coaching for the school's entrepreneurship educator in collaboration with Pomona AgTech totaling 196 hours annually to integrate participatory teaching methodologies and competencies while collaborating in designing a culturally-relevant and 21st century oriented curriculum.

In developing a sustainable coaching model within the school's programming, instructor training has been replicated in all subject matters. Over 80 hours of individual content coaching from Teachers2Teachers Global and the Creative Initiatives in Teacher Education (CITE) program located out of the Center for Mathematics Education at the University of Maryland College Park for 4 STEM-focused educators has shown visible results in student math progression. The model also includes coaching from the Universidad del Valle de Guatemala, ConTextos (El Salvador), as well as local experts in fields of English, science, and teaching methodology.

The impact of this grant on mathematics content growth is evident in student growth in MAP evaluations. These evaluations are taken by all students three times per school year and are aligned with Common Core standards. Each point on the MAP score level represents one content block, meaning 3 point represents a period of one school year. In January of 2019 students from 7th, 8th and 9th grade scored 201, 213, and 217 points respectively. Results in November of 2019 for the same grades were 206, 216, and 223 respectively. These results show that students are growing at a rate of nearly 2 years per 1 year of schooling.

To further develop and strengthen the school's curriculum 50 laptops and related accessories were purchased in December 2018. These laptops are used in weekly IT trainings for currently Colegio Impacto students as well as weekly trainings on IT in the workplace for recent highschool graduates. Technology has been introduced in all subject contents and in particular the school library, connecting themes of literacy and digital literacy.

Working in collaboration with ConTextos to design a curriculum-oriented books list Colegio Impacto purchased over 200 books, 60 of which are directly tied to the literature curriculum. Science, English, social studies, Kaqchikel, and math curriculum incorporate the materials to further strengthen content as well as incorporate critical thinking, literacy, and STEM in all courses.

The impact of this grant on literature, similar to mathematics, has been enormous. With the assistance of the grant and the continual development of the school's library, students have greater opportunities to read. Further implementing literature in the education curriculum, a specific course called "Journey to the Center of a Book," taken as a required course by all students, focuses on required readings that incorporate reading comprehension and critical thinking. With 4 required readings per year per student, over 780 books are read within this course alone. Growth in literature and reading comprehension can be seen in the improvement of student Lexile scores. Lexile evaluations are measures that describe a student's reading ability and reading comprehension with consideration of a books complexity to offer a reading level score. 7th, 8th, and 9th grade students improved their Lexile scores by an average of 70, 42, and 67 points respectively. The average 7th grade score of 288 in 2018 rose to 544 by the end of 2019, a 256 point increase.

 Girl Pioneers in the 21st Century / Reducing Gender Inequality in Education **

As noted in the project objectives, the benefits of this grant are not limited to basic education. In consideration of Rotary's focus area of economic and community development we have accomplished 3 specific goals: building the capacity of entrepreneurs, community leaders, local organizations, and community networks to support economic development in impoverished communities; developing opportunities for productive work; and reducing poverty in underserved communities.

Between 2018 and 2019, 44 girl pioneers (recent highschool graduates) received over 130 hours of in-person and on-line tutoring for course content, job readiness, university readiness, and providing additional resources and support to assist in their transition to the 21st century economy - including 65 hours of political and social science training and 40 hours of literature and mathematics training. Training and tutoring included an intensive week-long intense Spanish language and mathematics reinforcement program completed in December 2018 and again in December 2019.

44 girl pioneers participated in and successfully completed an 8 month English language training program called Access in 2018 and again in 2019 through the University del Valle de Guatemala. These trainings are employment-focused, professional English speaking and writing programs designed to better prepare the girl pioneers and also offer them greater opportunities for studies and employment.

To further build capacity of entrepreneurs and future community leaders as well as develop opportunities for productive work, girl pioneers participated in a 2 year Pequeños Negocios (Small Businesses) program. Through this grant's funding girl pioneers designed, developed, maintain, and manage 8 of their own small business: Mayan Life, Dasha Mariko, Pollos Felices, Servicio Estrella, Coxel, Fashion Tipico, Conejos Letty, and Textiles Nuevos Horizontes. These small businesses are the results of their participation in business training and preparations, employment-focused English training, internships with formal business partners, entrepreneurship content coaching, and professional mentoring achieved with this grant's funding.

Since 2018 girl pioneers have worked in 30 (16 in 2018, 14 in 2019) internships in professional work settings. These 3-month internships, sometimes longer, with formal businesses and NGOs have further prepared the young women to assume increasing responsible and valuable positions in the local economy. In doing so this initiative has helped to offer a visible alternative to the gender disparity visible and invisible in their society as well as reducing poverty in underserved communities.

Since 2018 girl pioneers have continued to build capacity as entrepreneurs and build their community networks through participation in local and national leadership events. 15 girl pioneers participated in twice-yearly exchanges with Pepsi Co. for coaching on leadership, women in the workplace, job retention strategies, and career planning.

Since 2018, 2 girl pioneers have graduated from university, with another 44 currently studying in university in a variety of programs that include programs with normally very limited female visibility.

Of these girl pioneers, 17 currently have formal employment, with another 8 in informal employment. 25 girl pioneers have achieved economic independence and mobility, meaning they receive an annual income in excess of the average income in Guatemala after having completed this program.

 Economic and Community Development **

Progress towards more systemic change within the educational system in Guatemala has been persistent and ongoing. The Chispa Network, which had 10 members in 2018, has grown and developed into a network of innovation and the sharing of best practices and systemic-changing actions. Over 18 organizations from the US,

Mexico, El Salvador, China, UAE, and Guatemala have shared innovation, trainings, and practices within Colegio Impacto to more than 40 Guatemalan organization.

Between June 2018 and April 2019 ConTextos provided 4 modules on "Developing Critical Thinking Skills through Literacy Strategies." Throughout these modules, 82 local teachers and individuals from local organizations participated in topics as literacy, critical thinking, and violence, as well as lecture comprehension in understanding contexts, high-order thinking and complex thought, and writing as a tool of expression of thought. The 63 local teachers who participated represent at least 1,200 local students who benefit from the best practices and an investment in the future of local economic development and education.

Trainings by Wuqu Kawok on women's health, WINGS, Girls Rising, and She's The First on women's reproductive health, Women's Justice Initiative on women's justice, Speak! on empowered voice and critical thinking, Ajchowen on the importance of women in Maya culture and art, among others has allowed Colegio Impacto to serve as a bearer of positive educational recognition and change.

This grant has allowed Colegio Impacto students, graduates, and staff to put the topic of girl's education on the local and national agenda by participating in various local and national events:

- Ella Impacta (2019): students participating in a 3 month small business incubator program and competition in the capital.

- ZAYED Sustainability Prize (2018-2019): students and staff participating in a sustainability and best practices event in Abu Dhabi, UAE.

- Social Science Conference (2019): social science educators participating in a week long conference in Costa Rica on best practices.

- Literature Conference (2019): literature educators participating in 2 day training in Quetzaltenango on best practices.

- Mathematics Conference (2019): mathematics educators participating in week long training in the US on best practices and social inclusion.

- Annual Women's Conference (2019): program mentors participate in day conference led by Namaste.

- Soy Autor (2019): literature educators and school librarian participate in two day training on pedagogy in Panajachel.

- Juconi: staff visit with Juconi in Mexico for trainings on family violence and violence targeting women.

- BBC Documentary (2019): students participated in interviews for BBC documentary on nutrition, economic opportunity, and gender roles in Guatemala.

- Confronting Inequality Conference (2019 - 2020): training in conjunction with Michigan State University on gender inequality.

Among others, these activities both promote and make visible the efforts and goals Colegio Impacto and Estrella del Mar are working to give women and young girls the opportunity to succeed.

While much work is still to be done, this project with the support of the Rotary Global Grant has established a sustainable foundation to continue the work of the project objectives into 2020 and beyond.

It also has a customized database developed specifically for measuring the progress and impact of its programs. Below are a few examples of measures currently employed: 1. Economic Independence and Mobility – The number and percentage of participants with an annual income in excess of the average income in Guatemala after completing the program. The percentage of program graduates gainfully employed. The percentage of graduates engaged in post program studies. 2. Reproductive and Relationship Autonomy – Percent of program graduates that have delayed marriage and family until at least age 25 3. Life-long Learning – Percentage of participants achieving a target level of 15 years of formal education compared to an average of 2.5 years in the indigenous adult population of Guatemala. Percentage of students currently enrolled in university. 4. Unlocking Leadership Potential – Percentage of graduates working for NGOs, involved in community service projects, and/or have been elected to voluntary positions of leadership This strong track record of not only measuring but evaluating the impact of its programs makes Estrella de Mar ideally suited to carry out this task.

SPONSOR PARTICIPATION

What roles and responsibilities did host sponsor members have?

Rotary E club of Lake Atitlan sent two members to the grand opening of the NEW campus of MAIA in Solola. That was Dr Will Boegel, principal contact for the GG and Mayra Tobias, club treasurer. We toured all of the facilities and did note the Rotary supplied computers and plaques in the main reception lobby thanking RECLA for its curriculum support.

Dr Will Boegel and the entire RECLA club hosted Cristian, a cadre member from Colombia, and answered all of her questions in an all day long interaction. She also attended our weekly RECLA meeting and we and a question and answer session with her.

Also, Dr Will Boegel personally followed the entire year of 7th grader Nohemy Salazar Perez, a sponsored student at MAIA. He visited her at school once, observing the excellent curriculum in use. He personally monitored some of her homework and class curriculum and was completely satisfied that MAIA offers an excellent, and stimulating curriculum to all of its three grades.

What roles and responsibilities did international sponsor members have?

The international sponsor, Rotary Club of Evergreen, was responsible for overall oversight of the grant. Throughout the life of the grant, the lead person was in regular contact with the host club to ensure that progress was being monitored and funds disbursed according to plan. In addition, international sponsor members visited Guatemala twice during the life of the grant to meet with the cooperating agency and view first firsthand the progress being made.

Did your project have any unexpected or unusually large variances?
Yes
Please briefly describe the circumstances for the variance.
Variances occurred due to specific factors:
(1) The cancellation of Activity 1 due to outside funds being allocated for specific use in this theme.
(2) The combining of Activity 7 and Activity 15 due to similarities in their management and overall goals/opportunities.
(3) The use of these funds to enhance Activity 8, Activity 11, and Activity 12.
(4) The enhancing or prolongation of Activity 3, Activity 8, Activity 11, Activity 12, Activity 13, and Activity 15 due to noted success and impact.
(5) It should be noted that a number of expenses noted in Progress Report (submitted 03/29/2019) were incorrectly categorized and therefore alter the distribution of budgeted vs actual expenses per category. These expenses are unable to be edited in the Final Report.

All expenses are reported in the local currency Quetzales (Guatemala). All reallocation of funds were reviewed by Rotary host sponsor member. All over-funding of grant activities (Q33,816.81) was covered by Associacion Estrella del Mar.

Accommodations
Actual expenses were lower: Variation in actual expenses of accommodations are due to the use of outside funds to cover accommodation costs of certain activities, thereby reducing expenses. For example, payments for accommodations for the Annual Women's Conference, training provided by INTECAP, trainings provided by Teachers2Teacher2 Global, trainings provided by ConTextos, and trainings provided by ChildAid were either covered by outside funds or by the providing organization. Accommodations expenses were further lessened as all area experts for IT and STEM trainings were local and did not require accommodations. Funds left over were reallocated to Travel with approval from Rotary host sponsor.

Equipment
Actual expenses were higher: With the cancellation of Activity 1 and the combining of Activity 7 and Activity 15, these funds were used to expand Activity 11 and Activity 12. Combining factors of opening the new school building, the increase in student population from 100 students to just over 200, as well as the intense focus on IT and STEM topics meant greater expenses in IT and STEM related equipment to maintain quality and achieve the goals noted in this grant. Additional IT equipment for the technology lab and STEM books and equipment for the school library and literature/STEM courses allowed for the implementation of a strong IT/STEM curriculum focused not just on IT/STEM trainings in related courses but also involving IT/STEM related topics in all school courses, tutoring, and trainings. The results have been tremendously positive. All funds reallocated to Equipment were reviewed by Rotary host sponsor member.

Monitoring/evaluation
Actual expenses were slightly higher: The variation in expenses was small and due to payment for the purchase of Edoo, a local Guatemalan and more culturally/socially relevant education platform that replaced the previous, US education platform Powerschool.

Operations
Actual expenses were higher: As noted above, certain expenses were categorized incorrectly in the Progress Report submitted 03/29/2019. As such, 3 expenses covering internships of Girl Pioneers (Activity 3) were incorrectly categorized as Operations rather than Trainings for a total of Q18,911.25. Taking this into account, actual expenses were as budgeted.

Project management
Actual expenses were higher: Variation in actual expenses is due to the increase in project management supervision. Considering the scope of activities noted in the grant a number of management alterations occurred to better manage each activity. Additional personnel included a Coordinator of Mentorship who provided management for activities for current students, a Coordinator of Quetzal Fund who provided management for activities for high school graduates, a Professional Development Coordinator who provided management for staff development, a Coordinator of Innovation who provided management for trainings and system-wide change, as well as administration expenses. The initial grant allowed for 15% of funds to be allocated to administration fees (Activity 17). Taking into account actual expenses Associacion Estrella del Mar was able to successfully remain under this goal, spending only 11% of funds of administration expenses.

Supplies
Actual expenses were lower: Variation in actual expenses is due to unforeseen donations of specific supplies that were initially budgeted in the grant. This includes the additional donation of STEM books by ConTextos as well as the lowering of costs for supplies by the Universidad del Valle de Guatemala for the advanced English courses and tutoring provided to high school graduates. Funds left over were reallocated to Equipment with approval from Rotary host sponsor.

Training
Actual expenses were lower: As noted above, certain expenses were categorized incorrectly in the Progress Report 03/29/2019. As such, 3 expenses covering internships of Girl Pioneers (Activity 3) were incorrectly categorized as Operations rather than Trainings for a total of Q18,911.25. Also, the negotiation of payments for expert training in IT/STEM fields and trainings provided by outside organizations allowed for a reduction in expenses. With this reduction in expenses Associacion Estrella del Mar was able to (1) increase the hours of IT/STEM training received, (2) increase content training with the hiring of additional experts in the fields of mathematics and science, and (3) provide more professional development trainings with an expert in professional development. Funds left over were reallocated to Project Management with approval from Rotary host sponsor, as these funds were used in the management and oversight of training activities.

Travel
Actual expenses were higher: Variation in travel expenses is due to two factors: (1) As noted above, certain expenses were categorized incorrectly in the progress report 03/29/2019. As such, 4 expenses covering employment-focused English language training provided by the Universidad del Valle de Guatemala were incorrectly categorized as Travel for a total of Q9,000 when in fact it should have been categorized as Training as those expenses were included in package provided by the university; and (2) the reallocation of funds from Accommodations to be used as Travel expenses, with approval from Rotary host sponsor. These funds were reallocated to provide for greater opportunity and professional exposure for Girl Pioneers as noted in Activity 15. A number of activities occurred both in the capital as well as abroad, meaning additional costs were incurred.

However these experiences were incredibly enriching and formed a key component in the success of the global grant and the development and growth of opportunities for Girl Pioneers.
